

Corporate Patron Form

Why should you be a Corporate Patron of the IRPS 2020, to be held March 29 – April 2 at the Hilton Dallas / Fort Worth Lakes Executive Conference Center?

- Let your customers know that your company is a leader in semiconductor device and systems reliability.
- Reach the niche market of microelectronics reliability engineers participating in the Symposium.

For more than 50 years, the International Reliability Physics Symposium (IRPS) has been the premier conference for engineers and scientists to present new and original work in the area of microelectronics reliability. Drawing participants from the United States, Europe, Asia, and other parts of the world, IRPS seeks to understand the interplay between the reliability of semiconductor components, integrated circuits, and microelectronic assemblies through an improved understanding of both the physics of failure as well as the application environment. Visit the conference website: www.irps.org.

IRPS Highlights:

- 400+ professionals from the semiconductor reliability field
- 100+ platform presentations and invited talks
- 70+ posters at the evening reception
- 20+ tutorials
- 20+ vendor exhibits for three days
- 10+ workshops and panel discussions
